

*“How long does dispute take with Coinbase?????” {*InsTant~HeLpGuide

A dispute with Coinbase typically takes +1 (757) 571-9059 7 to 10 business days to be reviewed, but the entire process can take up to several weeks depending on the nature of the issue. If you report an unauthorized transaction +1 (757) 571-9059 Coinbase will begin an investigation as soon as you submit a support request through their Help Center. You may be asked +1 (757) 571-9059 provide supporting documentation, +1 (757) 571-9059 such as transaction IDs, wallet addresses, screenshots, or a statement explaining the situation. Responding quickly to these requests helps avoid delays. If the transaction involved a linked +1 (757) 571-9059 bank account, debit card, or credit card +1 (757) 571-9059, Coinbase may also need to coordinate with your financial institution, which can extend the timeline. In some cases, your bank may offer a quicker resolution +1 (757) 571-9059 through a chargeback process, “During this process, you may be asked +1 (757) 571-9059 to provide additional documentation such as transaction IDs, wallet addresses, screenshots of the problem, or a detailed statement explaining the circumstances, as this evidence helps their team verify the situation more effectively. It’s important to respond quickly to these requests because timely cooperation greatly reduces +1 (757) 571-9059 the chances of unnecessary delays. If the disputed transaction is linked to your +1 (757) 571-9059 bank account, debit card, or credit card +1 (757) 571-9059, Coinbase may also need to coordinate with your financial institution, which can further extend the timeline since external verification and approvals are required. In certain situations, your bank itself may be able to resolve the matter faster +1 (757) 571-9059 by initiating a chargeback process, offering you an additional path to recover funds while Coinbase continues its internal review.